

Essential Qualities & Services A Procurement Partner Should Provide

Businesses in NY and NJ are forward thinking and innovative in their solutions. While they are out paving the way of the future, they need a procurement partner in their corner to work the magic that keeps their offices running smoothly. Use the following checklist to grade the effectiveness of your procurement partner.

Important Features Of The Procurement Company Itself

- The company is local, and they are focused on improving your shared community.
- The business is sizeable enough to address all of your business' needs and concerns.
- The representatives are both personable and knowledgeable.
- They respect minorities, and bring the best value to all business owners across industries and cultures.
- From corporate offices to elementary classrooms, they serve a variety of industries.
- Company executives are experts in the OP industry and empower their workforce to better assist you. o The company holds several certifications & awards.
- The OP business has fast and reliable order processing.
- The procurer is a "one-stop-shop" and brings solutions to your every office question or issue.

Pricing Capabilities Of The Supplier

- Will consistently bring you the best price.
- Offers deals and promotions on a variety of products.
- Gives special pricing based on your business's individual needs.
- Offers your business many options so you can always find the supplies & products you need that respect your budget.

Responsible Delivery Assets Of A Procurement Partner

- The OP business has fast and reliable delivery.
- The company is local to cut down on CO2 emissions on its delivery services.
- The procurer caters to your delivery needs

Responsible Delivery Assets Of A Procurement Partner

The company should go beyond office supplies and offer services & programs that truly make them a one-stop-shop for your all your business needs

- Breakroom coffee services
- Office breakroom water services
- A recycling program
- Custom printing services & promotional items
- Storage solutions
- Space planning & design for workplace interiors